EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

According to the Department of Justice (DOJ), State and Local Government (Title II) entities are required to develop a Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan to document compliance with the provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). The “Self-Evaluation” is designed to review all programs, services, activities (PSAs), policies, and procedures offered by the entity. The “Transition Plan” is to develop a plan with a schedule to remove physical barriers for persons with disabilities. This process was required to have been completed by 1993 with regular updates to the progress, preferably every four years, according to the Department of Justice (DOJ).

In 2010, the federal agencies recommitted to the ADA by announcing federal grants and funding will be tied to the completion of the required ADA Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan. Agencies without these required plans in place are at high risk for access-related litigation and may not be eligible for funding that ultimately comes from a federal agency.

Currently, Louisiana State University (LSU) does not have an ADA Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan in place, and due to the magnitude of the project, it will take a considerable amount of time to evaluate all facilities, sidewalks, and PSAs. LSU opted to have a Compliance Plan developed to serve as an interim process and confirm the University’s intent to comply with all of the requirements of the Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan process.

This Compliance Plan creates the blueprint that the University can use to complete the Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan process, as well as documents the efforts that have already been made toward compliance. It also documents which facilities and elements are still required to be evaluated and sets forth the plan and timeframe to complete the process. Having the Compliance Plan in place greatly reduces the risk of access-related litigation, and provided that the process and timeframes set forth are met, this document can be presented to federal agencies as a demonstration of the agency’s good faith effort and interim plan toward full compliance.

The scope of this Compliance Plan encompasses the entirety of the main LSU campus and the outlying LSU A&M location listed in the following table. The following table also lists the approximate number of buildings and square footage at each location that needs to be assessed for ADA compliance. In summary, approximately 511 buildings containing approximately 14.7 million square feet need to be assessed at all locations, with approximately 479 buildings containing approximately 14.3 million square feet at the main LSU campus in Baton Rouge.  Note that the square footage for some buildings, such as the Greek houses, is not populated. It is estimated that the square footage to be assessed is approximately 15 million square feet. Additionally, it is estimated that the scope includes approximately 50 miles of sidewalks and 68 bus stops or shelters that need to be physically evaluated. The entirety of the University’s programs, websites, online services, employment practices, emergency plans, and lease agreements will also need to be reviewed.

Total LSU Building Counts

Total Buildings/Streets/Sites owned by LSU A&M and owned by others	787
Streets, Lots and Sites	157
Others	630

Out of the 511 buildings listed below to be assessed approximately, the original construction date and the last renovation date for academic and administrative type buildings are included. The last renovation date for auxiliary buildings (Residential Life, Athletics, Union, UREC, etc.) is not populated in the spreadsheet, although many of these buildings have been renovated as well since their original construction date.

 See information above concerning total estimated square footage to be assessed.

Through the process of developing this Compliance Plan, the Consultant Team discovered the following:

- LSU has not developed and published the required ADA Public Notice and made it available on the ADA page of the University’s website.
- The LSU website does not have a prominent ADA information page, and ADA reasonable accommodation and ADA grievance information is not readily accessible to the public.
- The University has named an ADA/504 Coordinator and has an ADA Compliance Team comprised of representatives from major University departments.
- A recommended online survey and an interactive map will further assist in identifying specific locations where there are issues related to accessibility, safety, connectivity, or suggestions for accessibility improvements that are needed anywhere on the University’s campuses.
- The University has completed an evaluation of facilities in the past which included some accessibility information. However, a full and complete accessibility study of LSU’s facilities is needed to determine ADA compliance, with initial consideration being placed on parking and facilities that have the most public exposure, such as athletic venues, auditoriums, and lecture halls.

- Also to be reviewed for ADA compliance are all signalized intersections, sidewalk corridors, and bus stops and shelters on LSU campuses.
- A full analysis of the LSU website for Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) 2.0 AA compliance has not been conducted. However, each time the website has been updated, it has moved more and more toward compliance. Internal processes for updating webpages lack consistency and will need a full review.
- Though the University departments interact regularly with the ADA/504 Coordinator and have worked on ADA issues related to their programs, services, and activities, a complete analysis must be done on all University PSAs, procedures, and policies to determine if they are fully ADA accessible to all students, faculty, staff, and the public, regardless of disabilities.
- Online services that are accessible to the public must be evaluated to ensure ADA compliance.
- Lease agreements and third-party contracts must be reviewed to ensure that LSU's ADA obligations are incorporated and responsibilities are clearly defined.
- Emergency Plans for each facility must be evaluated to assure they include procedures for evacuating people with varying disabilities. In addition, facilities that may be utilized as temporary shelters will need to be reviewed to ensure that all amenities offered are ADA compliant.
- Employment practices also must be evaluated, including job descriptions and employee manuals, benefits, exams, recruitment and application process, the orientation process, and training and career development.

The next step is to allocate funding and begin the evaluation process. Because the University is behind in this effort, the Consultant Team recommends one comprehensive evaluation. From a risk management perspective, evaluations should be prioritized in the following order:

- 1) Website evaluation to ensure each webpage and all interactive processes are fully ADA compliant and meet the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines WCAG 2.0 AA standards.
- 2) PSAs, policies, procedures, contracts and lease agreements can be evaluated simultaneously to the website.
- 3) Facilities can be broken down into phases that are divided by public access. Those that regularly have public in attendance should be evaluated in the first phase and those more remote from public interaction in later phases.
- 4) Public rights-of-way and exterior routes are often the cause of litigation and should be evaluated for compliance. This may be one of the largest cost of the process. Sidewalk evaluations can become a separate RFP if the University decides to do so.

Depending on budgetary constraints, the timeline for completion of all evaluations is expected to be two years and the cost approximately $1.75 million depending on a variety of factors which include:

- Level of detail sought
- Method of data collection
- Efficiency of teams

1.0 LEGISLATIVE REQUIREMENTS

The Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) is a civil rights law that mandates equal opportunity for individuals with disabilities. The ADA prohibits discrimination in access to jobs, public accommodations, government services, public transportation, and telecommunications. In addition, Title II of the ADA requires state and local governments to ensure that all PSAs, policies, and procedures provide full inclusion for individuals with disabilities.

The federal mandate requires Title II entities to complete a Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan designed to review all of their facilities, infrastructure, policies, and PSAs to ensure that individuals with disabilities have equal access.

Developing a comprehensive ADA Transition Plan is a very big undertaking and will require a significant amount of time to develop for an entity the size of Louisiana State University (University/LSU). Therefore, this Compliance Plan will serve as an interim process that documents what has been completed to date and what will need to be evaluated to complete a comprehensive Transition Plan.

This Compliance Plan is the first step toward the eventual ADA Transition Plan.

1.1 Title I Requirements

The ADA makes it unlawful to discriminate in employment against a qualified individual with a disability. The ADA also prohibits discrimination against individuals with disabilities in state and local government services, public accommodations, transportation, and telecommunications. Title I is enforced by the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) and state and local civil rights enforcement agencies that work with the EEOC.

Because the ADA establishes overlapping responsibilities in both the EEOC and DOJ for employment by state and local governments, the federal enforcement effort is coordinated by EEOC and DOJ to avoid duplication in investigative and enforcement activities. In addition, since some private and governmental employers are already covered by nondiscrimination and affirmative action requirements under the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, EEOC, DOJ, and the Department of Labor (DOL) similarly coordinate the enforcement effort under the ADA and the Rehabilitation Act.

1.2 Title II Requirements

Title II applies to state and local government entities, and, in subtitle A, protects qualified individuals with disabilities from discrimination on the basis of disability in services, programs, and activities provided by these entities. Title II extends the prohibition of discrimination established by Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, 29 U.S.C. 794, to all activities of state and local governments regardless of whether these entities receive federal financial assistance.

In October 2016, there was an update to the final rule to revise the regulation of the DOJ that implements Title II of the ADA relating to nondiscrimination on the basis of disability in state and local government services. The DOJ issued the final rule in order to adopt enforceable accessibility standards under the ADA that are consistent with the minimum guidelines and requirements issued by The Architectural and Transportation Barriers Compliance Board (Access Board) and to update or amend certain provisions of the Title II regulation so that they comport with the DOJ's legal and practical experiences in enforcing the ADA since 1991. Concurrently with the publication of the final rule for Title II, the DOJ published a final rule amending its ADA Title III regulation, which covers nondiscrimination on the basis of disability by public accommodations and in commercial facilities.

The ADA required the Access Board to “issue minimum guidelines that supplement the existing Minimum Guidelines and Requirements for Accessible Design for purposes of subchapters II and III of the ADA to ensure that buildings, facilities, rail passenger cars, and vehicles are accessible, in terms of architecture and design, transportation, and communication, to individuals with disabilities,” 42 U.S.C. 12204. The ADA requires the DOJ to issue regulations that include enforceable accessibility standards applicable to facilities subject to Title II or Title III that are consistent with the “minimum guidelines” issued by the Access Board, 42 U.S.C. 12134(c); 42 U.S.C. 12186(c), but vests in the Attorney General sole responsibility for the promulgation of those standards that fall within the Department's jurisdiction and for enforcement of the regulations.

The ADA also required the DOJ to develop regulations with respect to existing facilities subject to Title II (subtitle A) and Title III. How and to what extent the Access Board's guidelines are used with respect to barrier removal requirement applicable to existing facilities under Title III of the ADA and to the provision of program accessibility under Title II of the ADA are solely within the discretion of the DOJ.

1.3 Title III Requirements

The 2010 final rule revised the DOJ regulation that implements Title III of the ADA relating to nondiscrimination on the basis of disability by public accommodations and in commercial facilities. The DOJ issued the final rule in order to adopt enforceable accessibility standards under the ADA that are consistent with the minimum guidelines and requirements issued by the Access Board, and to update or amend certain provisions of the Title III regulation so that they comport with the DOJ's legal and practical experiences in enforcing the ADA since 1991. Concurrently with the publication of the final rule for Title III, the DOJ published the final rule amending its ADA Title II regulation, which is discussed in Section 1.2 Title II Requirements.

1.4 Title IV Requirements

Title IV addresses telephone and television access for people with hearing and speech disabilities and requires common carriers (telephone companies) to establish interstate and intrastate telecommunications relay services (TRS) 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. TRS enables callers with hearing and speech disabilities who use TTYs (also known as TDDs), and callers who use voice telephones to communicate with each other through a third-party communications assistant. The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has set minimum standards for TRS services. Title IV also requires closed captioning of federally funded public service announcements.

1.5 Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973

Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (Section 504) was the first disability civil rights law to be enacted in the United States. It prohibits discrimination against people with disabilities in programs that receive federal financial assistance and sets the stage for the enactment of the Americans with Disabilities Act. Section 504 works together with the ADA and IDEA to protect children and adults with disabilities from exclusion and unequal treatment in schools, jobs, and the community. Similar to the ADA, Section 504 also requires entities to appoint a coordinator to oversee compliance.

The Section 504 movement created a generation of disability rights activists and advocates who would go on to draft the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990. The ADA can be viewed as picking up where Section 504 left off, handling the more difficult, complex situations, such as physical accessibility to buildings. Using Section 504 as a template, the framers of the ADA sought to extend provisions that now applied to the government to much of the private sector (notably private employers, stores, hotels, and restaurants). The new law also specifically stated that the ADA would not amend or weaken Section 504. Because of being drafted based on Section 504, the ADA also framed disability in the context of civil rights rather than as a medical need, using terms such as "discrimination," "reasonable accommodation," and "otherwise qualified." The cross-disability coalitions forged during the Section 504 protests also ensured that the ADA would employ a broad definition of disability so that it could encompass a wide variety of impairment groups. Like Section 504, the ADA includes people with psychiatric disabilities, alcoholics, and recovering drug addicts (excluding current users of drugs).

1.6 Discrimination and Accessibility

Program accessibility means that, when viewed in its entirety, each program is readily accessible to and usable by individuals with disabilities. Program accessibility is necessary for individuals with mobility needs and individuals with sensory and cognitive disabilities.

Accessibility applies to all aspects of a program or service, including but not limited to physical access, advertisement, eligibility, participation, testing or evaluation, provision of auxiliary aids, transportation, policies, and communication.

The following are examples of elements that will be evaluated for barriers to accessibility:

1.6.1 Physical Barriers

Physical barriers are physical features that limit or prevent people with disabilities from obtaining the goods and services that are offered. Physical barriers may include the following:

- Parking
- Path of travel to, throughout, and between buildings and amenities
- Doors including levers, closers, clearance, and any other accessibility elements
- Service counters
- Restrooms
- Drinking fountains
- Public telephones
- Path of travel along sidewalk corridors between buildings and within the public rights-of-way
- Access to pedestrian equipment at signalized intersections or safety features along internal routes
- Non-compliant sidewalks or curb ramps
- Emergency notifications, alarms, and visible signals
- Non-compliant sidewalks or curb ramps

1.6.2 Programmatic Barriers

Programmatic barriers are barriers that limit the effective delivery of an entity's PSAs. Programmatic barriers may include:

- Building signage
- Customer communication and interaction
- Availability of auxiliary aids
- Equal participation opportunities at University sponsored events
- Emergency notifications, alarms, and visible signals

1.7 Roles and Responsibilities of the ADA/504 Coordinator

State and local governments with 50 or more employees are required to designate at least one qualified responsible employee to coordinate compliance with ADA requirements. The name, office address, and telephone number of this individual must be available and advertised to employees and the public. This allows the individual who will assist with questions and concerns regarding disability discrimination to be easily identified.

The University has appointed Jennie Stewart as the acting ADA/504 Coordinator for Title I and Title II for the main campus. Although Jennie is the acting ADA/504 Coordinator, this is not her primary job responsibility, and the ADA/504 Coordinator should be the primary responsibility of the staff member that is responsible for administering ADA oversight. In addition, the ADA/504 Coordinator's information is not easy to find on the University's website or in other University documents. This information is found on the Digital Resources and Content Accessibility webpage, which is specific to website accessibility, or by using the search feature on the University's main webpage with keywords such as "ADA," "ADA Coordinator," "accessibility," and "complaint. This will need to be resolved during the Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan process.

The University has an entire team that will be focusing on accessibility compliance. Besides having an ADA/504 Coordinator, the University also has an ADA Compliance Team. The ADA Compliance Team is comprised of representatives from each major University department. These individuals work closely with the ADA/504 Coordinator to resolve issues regarding the needs of their department and the programs under their management. The ADA/504 Coordinator works closely with the ADA Compliance Team to coordinate the implementation of plans, programs, policies, and procedures. This team is leading the effort to complete the ADA Compliance Plan and will also oversee the ADA Transition Plan process. A list of all members of the ADA Compliance Team is located in Appendix D.

1.7.1 ADA/504 Coordinator Qualifications

Below is a list of qualifications of the ADA/504 Coordinator that are recommended by the U.S. DOJ. The Consultant team has found these qualifications are present in the current ADA/504 Coordinator, but the requirements below should be filed for future position openings:

- Familiarity with the entities' structures, activities, and employees
- Knowledge of the ADA and other laws addressing the rights of people with disabilities, such as Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act
- Experience with people with a broad range of disabilities

- Knowledge of various alternative formats and alternative technologies that enable individuals with disabilities to communicate, participate, and perform tasks
- Ability to work cooperatively with local entities and people with disabilities
- Familiarity with any local disability advocacy groups or other disability groups
- Skills and training in negotiation and mediation
- Organizational and analytical skills

1.8 ADA Grievance Policy, Procedure and Form with Appeal Process

A Grievance Process is required by the ADA to allow the members of the community who are disabled a way to notify the leadership of that community of areas where there are barriers preventing them from fully participating in civic life. This process takes a complaint or issue directly to the ADA/504 Coordinator or assigned designee for resolution. An appeal process is also required.

1.8.1 Title I

Information regarding Title I ADA grievance policy, procedure, and form with appeals process is not on the University's website. The Consultant Team recommends the University complete a review of any existing Title I ADA grievance policy, procedure, and form with appeals process, including Policy Statement 26: Policy for Persons with Disabilities.

1.8.2 Title II

Information regarding Title II ADA grievance policy, procedure, and form with appeals process is not on the University's website. The Consultant Team recommends the University complete a review of any existing Title II ADA grievance policy, procedure, and form with appeals process, including Policy Statement 26: Policy for Persons with Disabilities.

2.0 COMPLIANCE PLAN SCOPE AND PURPOSE

The ADA law requires all Title II entities to complete an ADA Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan as noted in the § 35.105 Self-Evaluation section:

- (a) A public entity shall, within one year of the effective date of the most recent version of Section 35.105, evaluate its current services, policies, and practices, and the effects thereof, that do not or may not meet the requirements of this part and, to the extent modification of any such services, policies, and practices are required, the public entity shall proceed to make the necessary modifications.
- (b) A public entity shall provide an opportunity to interested persons, including individuals with disabilities or organizations representing individuals with disabilities, to participate in the Self-Evaluation process by submitting comments.
- (c) A public entity that employs 50 or more persons shall, for at least three years following completion of the Self-Evaluation, maintain on file and make available for public inspection:
 - 1) A list of the interested persons consulted
 - 2) A description of areas examined and any problems identified

3) A description of any modifications made

- (d) If a public entity has already complied with the Self-Evaluation requirement of a regulation implementing section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, then the requirements of this section shall apply only to those policies and practices that were not included in the previous Self-Evaluation.

In reviewing documentation provided by the University, there was no evidence that a full Self-Evaluation of the PSA's offered by the University has ever been completed. Therefore, it is added to the list of items to complete to ensure the University has a comprehensive Self-Evaluation to present to the DOJ should it be requested.

2.1 Compliance Plan vs. Transition Plan vs. Self-Evaluation

The Compliance Plan is an interim step to completing the Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan. The Department of Justice refers to the "Self-Evaluation" as the evaluation of all of the Universities programs, services, activities, policies, and practices while the "Transition Plan" is the evaluation of the physical features and infrastructure. Both of these are required by the Americans with Disabilities Act. The Compliance Plan is the interim phase that helps determine what actually needs to be evaluated.

The University is obligated under the law to develop both the Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan to ensure the University is in compliance with all of the requirements of the ADA. The Self-Evaluation requires the University to observe all of the following requirements:

- Title I in its employment practices
- Title II in its policies, programs, services, policies, and practices
- Any parts of Titles IV and V that apply to the organization
- All requirements specified in the 2010 ADA Standards and 2013 Proposed Accessibility Guidelines (PROWAG) that apply to facilities and other physical holdings.

The Self-Evaluation focuses on the programs, services, activities, policies, and practices and the Transition Plan focuses on the infrastructure. Both requirements are found under Title II of the ADA, which has the broadest impact on the University. Included in Title II are administrative requirements for all government entities employing more than 50 people. These administrative requirements are:

- Completion of a Self-Evaluation
- Development of an ADA complaint procedure
- Designation of at least one person who is responsible for overseeing Title II compliance
- Development of a Transition Plan to schedule the removal of the barriers uncovered by the Evaluation process. The Transition Plan will become a working document until all barriers have been addressed.

This Compliance Plan creates the blueprint that the University can use to complete the Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan process, as well as document the efforts that have already been made toward compliance. It also allows major decisions to be made in the methodology for the data collection. Through the Compliance Plan process the University documents which facilities and elements need to be evaluated and sets forth the plan and timeframe to complete the process. Having the Compliance Plan in place greatly reduces the risk of access-related litigation as long as it is directly followed by the required Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan process. This document can be presented to federal agencies, if requested, as a demonstration of the University's interim plan toward full compliance.

Everything the DOJ requires to be addressed will be included, including facilities, programs, services, policies, practices, and public rights-of-way to improve accessibility around the University, as well as the infrastructure it is responsible for maintaining. This document will guide the planning and implementation process for the necessary program and facility modifications.

The ADA Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan are significant in that they establish the University's ongoing commitment to the development and maintenance of PSAs and facilities that accommodate all students, faculty, staff, and the public.

2.2 Public Outreach Efforts

The University will host public meetings to provide a summary of the transition planning process and receive feedback on any concerns related to accessibility. In addition, the University will contact local disability organizations, as well as the Office of Disability Services, to form an external ADA Advisory Team to assist with this project. The University will continue to solicit feedback from the faculty, staff, students, and local disability organizations as the Transition Plan is developed.

The public meeting and external ADA Advisory Team meeting notes will be provided in the Transition Plan Appendix. All comments received during the public outreach will be tracked so the University can see how the community feels the University is doing with their accessibility efforts.

2.2.1 Online Survey

The University is required to communicate with the local disability community. The Consultant Team proposes an online survey be used to obtain information on areas of the greatest concern to students, faculty, staff, and the public to help provide better access to the University's campus and programs. The survey will help give a voice to the disability community.

2.2.2 Interactive Map

The Consultant Team proposes the development of an online interactive map allowing interested parties to identify specific locations where they experience issues related to accessibility, safety, connectivity, or suggestions for accessibility improvements that are needed anywhere on the University's campus. Once developed, the map will be accessed via the internet and a link will be provided.

The Consultant Team proposes the University promote the web survey and map using several methods. It should be posted on the University's ADA web page, sent out through social media, and emailed to local disability organizations for distribution to their constituents. Both can remain online as needed and will serve as a tool to solicit public feedback on the Transition Plan.

2.3 Ongoing Accessibility Improvements

The University's PSAs and facilities evaluated during the Self-Evaluation will also continue to be evaluated on an ongoing basis as future renovations take place, and the ADA Transition Plan will be revised as needed to account for those changes. The final Transition Plan will be posted on the University's website for public review.

3.0 ITEMS TO REVIEW

3.1 Website

The University's website provides a variety of online services including access to databases, directories, online purchases, online payments, sign-ups, registrations, file reports, and online resources, which are available to students, faculty, staff, and the public. The website will need to be fully evaluated to determine if all aspects, functions, and pages are compliant with WCAG 2.0 AA standards.

3.2 Programs, Services, Activities, Procedures, and Policies

Under the ADA, the University is required to complete a Self-Evaluation of the University's facilities and PSAs. The Self-Evaluation identifies and provides possible solutions to those policies and practices that are inconsistent with Title II requirements. To be compliant, the Self-Evaluation will consider all the University's PSAs, as well as the policies and practices the agency uses to implement its various programs and services.

To comply with the requirements of the plan, the University must take corrective measures to achieve program accessibility through several methods, including, but not limited to:

- Relocation of programs to accessible facilities
- Modifications to existing programs so they are offered in an accessible manner
- Structural methods such as altering an existing facility
- Policy modifications to ensure nondiscrimination

- Auxiliary aids needed to provide effective communication

When choosing a method of providing program access, the agency should attempt to give priority to the method that promotes inclusion among all users, including individuals with disabilities.

PSAs offered by the University to the students, faculty, staff, and the public must be accessible. Accessibility applies to all aspects of a PSA including advertisements, employee orientations, eligibility, participation, testing or evaluation, physical access, provision of auxiliary aids, transportation, policies, and communication.

However, the University does not have to take any action that will result in a fundamental alteration in the nature of a program or activity, create a hazardous condition for other people, or result in an undue financial and/or administrative burden. This determination can only be made by the ADA/504 Coordinator and/or an authorized designee of the University, such as the University President or his/her designee, and must be accompanied by a written statement detailing the reasons for reaching the determination.

The determination of undue burden must be based on an evaluation of all resources available for use. If a barrier removal action is judged unduly burdensome, the University must consider all other options for providing access to ensure individuals with disabilities receive the benefits and services of the program or activity. This process must be fully documented.

A review of the information posted on the University's website was completed to determine which elements need to be reviewed in detail to determine ADA compliance of the University's programs, procedures, and policies. This review, along with the lists of information provided by the University to the Consultant, forms the basis for this Compliance Plan.

Programs Offered by the University

The University's website provides information regarding the programs, services, and activities (PSA) offered at the University. The total programs, services, and activities counted, whether they are for students, faculty, staff, or the public were logged and found to be 851 (Appendix B.5). The Consultant estimates there will be approximately 500 policies and/or forms to review (Appendix B.3). This number includes the Title I required forms, such as a "Reasonable Accommodation" form, as well as policies and forms used regularly by the 851 PSA's identified through this process and the 214 Divisions, Departments, Colleges, and Offices identified in Appendix B.1.

The University will also complete an evaluation of all programs offered as part of the Self-Evaluation Process, which includes all of the core service areas within the University. Surveys were conducted with several University departments that serve a prominent role in University programs and events with public involvement. Due to the role these Departments play on campus, the Consultant team recommends further evaluation during the first phases of the self-evaluation phase.

Athletics

The Athletics Department is committed to creating an environment that fosters student athlete success at a high-level competitiveness and providing a great fan experience by encouraging community involvement. Therefore, the following processes will be reviewed:

- Event ticketing (including student ticketing)
- Accessible seating
- Event staff training
- Event parking
- Closed captioning for LSU Sports Television Network
- Facility accessibility (stadium, centers, dugouts, locker rooms, fields, etc.)
- Youth programs and camps
- Clubs (National L Club, Mike’s Kids Club, etc.)
- Kiosks used for ticketing or any other purpose

Human Resource Management

Human Resource Management is responsible for providing all employment-related services. Therefore, the processes outlined in Section 3.10 will be reviewed.

Information Technologies Services

The Information Technologies Services (ITS) department oversees the information technology resources used by LSU students, staff, and faculty. The Department consists of five divisions: Office of the Chief Technology Officer, Enterprise Architecture, Technical Architecture, Service and Operations, and the Student Modernization Project. Therefore, the following processes will be reviewed:

- Assistive Technologies
- Audio Systems
- Audio/Visual Equipment Checkout
- Billing Portals
- Campus Maps
- Classroom Technology Services
- Event Support and Technology
- Telephone Services
- Website Design and Content

Facility and Property Oversight

Facility and Property Oversight is responsible for the care and upkeep of the physical campus environment. Therefore, the following processes will be reviewed:

- Maintenance and out-of-order policies and procedures
- Facility accessibility
- Contracts and bids process
- Facility design standards
- Grounds and landscaping design standards
- ADA signage standards

Office of Emergency Preparedness

The Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) is committed to providing a safe environment for all by preparing for a vast array of natural and man-made emergency situations. Therefore, the following process will be reviewed:

- LSU Shield App
- LSUalert System
- Vendor lists
- Building evacuation plans
- Emergency shelter operations

Office of Legal Affairs and General Counsel

The Office of Legal Affairs and General Counsel provides legal advice and services to the University. Therefore, the following processes will be reviewed:

- Inspections of Public Records
- Contracts
- Leases
- Land agreements

Parking and Transportation Services

The Parking and Transportation Services department is charged with providing access to key programs by offering a variety of parking and transportation services. Therefore, the following processes will be reviewed:

- Parking lot maintenance
- Parking permitting process, including the issuing of temporary disabled parking permits for students, faculty, and staff
- Bus and shuttle transportation services
- Parking citations
- Event planning and parking
- Alternative transportation
- Parking maps
- Visitor parking guides and information

Performing Arts/Museums

LSU has several performance centers and museums. Therefore, the following processes will be reviewed:

- Ticketing
- Seating assignments
- Assistive listening systems
- Qualified sign language interpreters
- Closed Captioning
- Service animal policy
- Staff and volunteer training
- Customer relations
- Space rentals
- Kiosks used for ticketing or any other purpose

University Recreation (UREC)

The University Recreation Department provides a wide variety of opportunities that enhance the University community. Therefore, the following processes will be reviewed:

- Student Employment
- Facility Rentals
- Locker Rentals
- Aquatics program and swim lessons
- Youth programs and camps
- UREC Proshop
- UREC Adventure Center rentals
- Fitness and personal training programs
- Intramural sports
- Club sports
- Adventure Education Program
- Challenge Course
- Staff trainings
- Service animal policy

Campus Life/Student Activities

The Campus Life Department provides students with experiences outside the classroom. Therefore, the following processes will be reviewed:

- Student Organizations
- Student Events
- Volunteer Programs
- Activity and Event Policies
- Awards and Honors Programs

3.3 Buildings and Facilities

The University is planning to review all facilities to determine compliance. This will be a full review of every building owned, leased, or operated by the University, plus those that physically exists on the campus that may not be owned by the University with the exception of those that are exempt or those that will be destroyed or sold in the next five years.

The evaluations for the buildings will be based on the age of the building and the requirements that were in place when the building was built, but all remediation efforts will need to be to current standards. The buildings that will be included in the facility evaluations are documented in Appendix A.1.

In breaking down the priority of how/when facilities will be evaluated, the Consultant Team recommends that it be based on use, exposure, and risk. Therefore, the Consultant Team recommends the following order in which facilities should be evaluated:

- 1) Parking structures and surface lots, along with any on-street parking on the campus, whether owned by the University or not, the University is responsible for maintaining - Because parking is the first thing recommended for compliance by the DOJ, the Consultant Team believes a parking study should be part of every facility evaluation, even if the parking for the building is not on the same site. This will provide a comprehensive look at the overall parking program and locations of fully accessible parking versus those labeled as accessible but not compliant. Another options would be to perform a full exterior assessment that includes all parking lots, garages and on-street parking along with the sidewalk system and paths to the buildings intended to be served by the parking.

2) Academic Buildings and Facilities with Public access -

The second highest risks are the facilities that have the most exposure, which are those facilities that welcome the public such as athletic venues, auditoriums, and lecture halls. Each facility that welcomes the public is recommended for evaluation first, directly followed by all facilities that are part of the educational opportunities and then those that are part of the administrative and student support processes.

3) Support facilities without public access -

All other facilities that support the educational process fall into this category which includes faculty buildings, parking and counseling offices, practice fields and buildings that support student life such as Greek Houses, etc. These should be considered next in priority.

Second to the academic/educational facilities are the facilities used ONLY for employment with no student use. This group of facilities is not required to be part of the Transition Plan process, but the University is required to know where the weaknesses in their facilities are under Title I for potential employment. The consultant group recommends these facilities are identified and assessed for University records and employment opportunities.

4) Buildings or support facilities not required to be evaluated -

Mechanical buildings, pump houses, and storage buildings are generally exempt from compliance unless they have some role in the educational opportunities. For instance, a pump house may serve a mechanical purpose on the campus, but it may also be toured by students as part of their educational opportunities. Any such building should remain on the list of facilities to be evaluated. All others are not required.

When it comes to storage facilities the same theory is true. A storage building with all of the landscaping equipment may not need to be evaluated, but the university may have a landscaping program, where students can earn credits for working on the university grounds, which would make that storage facility require compliance.

Therefore, what buildings need to be evaluated is not always clear up front.

3.4 Public Right-of-Ways and Pedestrian Routes

All parts of the pedestrian paths that surround buildings, surround the campus or provide inter-campus pedestrian access are required to comply. An accessible path of travel is required to be provided from each parking lot to the sidewalk system surrounding the lots and ultimately to the buildings the lot is intended to serve. This needs to be reviewed on a building-by-building basis as well as holistically across campus.

3.4.1 Sidewalk Corridors

The University owns or maintains roughly 50 miles of sidewalk ranging from local pedestrian routes to interior sidewalks. Each section of the sidewalk will need evaluation to set a baseline for the University and to help prioritize the remediation plan.

The sidewalk corridor evaluations will document conditions and measurements along the pedestrian path of travel, which includes the sidewalk, curb ramps, pedestrian crossings at driveway openings, and pedestrian crossings at unsignalized intersections with cross streets. All sidewalks in and through the University that are owned or maintained by the University will be evaluated. Although some sidewalks are within City or State owned rights-of-way, these will be evaluation as well. The priority for sidewalk remediation should be based on their high level of pedestrian activity as well as other pedestrian traffic generators.

The ADA of 1990, Section 35.150, Existing Facilities, requires that the Transition Plan include a schedule for providing curb ramps or other sloped areas at existing pedestrian walkways, which applies to all facilities constructed prior to 1992. For any sidewalk installations constructed from 1992 to March 15, 2012, the curb ramps should have been installed as part of the sidewalk construction project per the 1991 Standards for Accessible Design, Section 4.7.

In the definition of an accessible route, as it pertains to the curbs, it states, “curb ramps complying with 4.7 shall be provided wherever an accessible route crosses a curb.” For sidewalk installations constructed on or after March 15, 2012, similar guidance is provided in the 2010 Standards for Accessible Design, Section 35.151 of 28 CFR Part 35, New Construction and Alterations, which states, “newly constructed or altered street level pedestrian walkways must contain curb ramps or other sloped areas at any intersection having a curb at intersections to streets, roads or highways.”

Through the development of the Transition Plan, a curb ramp plan will also be developed to meet the requirements listed in Section 35.150 above.

3.5 Bus Stops and Shelters

The Bus Stop and Shelter evaluations will document conditions and measurements from the adjoining pedestrian path of travel to the bench and/or shelter and the boarding/alighting area for compliance. The priority for included benches and shelters should be based on their high level of pedestrian activity, as well as their proximity to pedestrian traffic generators, along with the number of documented riders with disabilities.

The University owns or maintains approximately 50 bus stops, benches and/or shelters. This includes the bus stops that are little more than a sign in the grass, as well as those with full shelters. Part of the evaluation of the bus stops/benches and shelters is to determine the areas where access is not provided along long stretches to help prioritize upgrading the stops over time. The bus stops and shelters that will be included in the evaluations are documented in Appendix A.2.

3.6 Design Standards

There are more than 20,000 national design standards and building codes. Each entity adopts the codes they are most comfortable using. All entities must use the ADA Accessibility Guidelines (ADAAG) as a minimum for accessibility.

As part of the evaluation process, the design standards currently used by the University will be reviewed and evaluated, including any state or local additions or requirements.

3.7 Previous ADA Complaints (Title I and Title II)

All public entities must ensure that no qualified individual with disabilities is excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or otherwise be subjected to discrimination under any program, service, or activity administered by that entity.

In reviewing the current process, all complaints received are tracked from the time they come in until they are resolved using an in-house developed process. A list of known ADA complaints is located in Appendix B.6.

3.8 Lease Agreements and Contracts

Lease agreements and contracts help determine each entity's responsibilities when it comes to both physical and programmatic compliance. Lease agreements should contain the University's non-discrimination language in addition to ADA language that clarifies ADA obligations for both parties. The consultant team recommends a review of lease agreements and contracts from each University department and program as part of the transition plan process.

3.9 Emergency Plan

Emergency planning and management have become increasingly important today. All emergency plans and emergency management teams must include the necessary information on how to properly assist citizens in the community who may have a disability. Identifying the citizens with disabilities is paramount to rescuing them. The University should have an Emergency Management Plan in place that details how to help the students, faculty, staff, and the public with disabilities in the event of a campus emergency.

Disabilities manifest themselves in varying degrees and the functional implications of the variations are important for emergency evacuation. A person may have multiple disabilities, while another may have a disability whose symptoms fluctuate. Everyone needs to have a plan to be able to evacuate a building, regardless of the physical condition.

While planning for every situation that may occur in every type of emergency is impossible, being as prepared as possible is important. Every aspect of the emergency planning process needs to be evaluated. The University is currently developing a comprehensive emergency management plan for the LSU A&M Main Campus which will include a template for developing building and department specific emergency plans. The Consultant Team recommends a full review of the documents listed below and the emergency management plan and evacuation plan for each building to ensure it includes procedures for evacuating people with varying disabilities. In addition, input is needed from various people and entities including discussing emergency planning with Disability Services and students/staff and faculty who have disabilities and the local first responders.

- LSU Policy Statement 18
- LSU Policy Statement 97
- University Safety Manual
- University Radiation Safety Manual

3.10 Employment Practices

The University employs over 5,424 faculty and staff and has approximately 3,532 job descriptions that will need to be evaluated. Other documents and processes for review as part of the Self-Evaluation process have been identified in Appendix B.4 and include:

- Effective communication efforts by providing auxiliary aids and services to ensure individuals with disabilities received equally effective communication as individuals without disabilities.
- Employee Benefits/FMLA
- Employee Manual and Policies
- Employment Exams
- Reasonable Accommodation Interactive Process
- Recruitment and Application Process
- Intern and Volunteer Process
- Training and Career Development

4.0 ITEMS COMPLETED BY THE UNIVERSITY TO DATE

4.1 Website Efforts

The University maintains a very robust website with a variety of interactive processes and tools. While the website has not gone through a full analysis for Section 508 compliance, LSU Policy Statement 31 provides detailed guidance on the University's digital resources and accessibility.

The majority of the work on the website is completed in-house. University staff are required to attend digital accessibility training on the annual basis and all digital content is monitored by the Office of Digital Resources and Content Accessibility.

4.2 Programs, Services, Activities, Procedures and Policies

The University has had an active ADA/504 Coordinator for a few years. While the University has not completed a full analysis of all the PSAs, procedures, and policies, there is evidence that steps towards ADA compliance have been taken. In addition, several University departments have worked on ADA issues and interact regularly with the ADA/504 Coordinator.

4.3 Buildings and Facilities

LSU invests hundreds of millions of dollars a year in capital development. The Campus Design Guidelines and Standards require that those developments meet all current code and compliance requirements, inclusive of ADAAG. As a result, due to continual renovations and replacement of buildings and improvement to the campus landscape, the campus is more and more ADA compliant every year. In addition, in 2002 LSU instituted a Facilities Access Fee to be paid each semester by students with a match from the President's Office. The sole purpose of this fee is to facilitate the University's commitment to the ADA by bringing LSU buildings and facilities into compliance with the ADA. The Office of Planning Design and Construction (PDC), along with guidance of the Campus Access Site Team (CAST), continuously identifies and prioritizes areas that are not in compliance with the ADA in which the Facilities Access Fees can be used. To date, the fee has been used to complete thirteen (13) projects and an additional twenty-two (22) projects have been identified for future Facilities Access Fee usage. The list of projects completed and projects identified is in Appendix A.3.

4.4 Public Rights-of-Way Process

The Public Rights-of-Way process has been modified through the years to meet the requirements of both the ADA and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. Each update brings the work being done more and more into compliance. As sidewalks are altered or added, compliance is achieved.

4.5 Design Standards Adoption

As state and federal codes are updated, the University follows their internal process to update the codes and standards used for design and construction to ensure they are meeting the most recent, and therefore the most stringent, available codes.

4.6 Parking and Transportation Services

The University has completed parking studies over the years with the most recent study being the 2019 Mobility Implementation Plan with a focus on improving campus accessibility. The University also provides an interactive parking maps with the ability to identify accessible parking spaces on the Parking and Transportation Services website.

4.7 Staff Training

Compliance with ADA will only be as good as the training the staff receives. The University currently has several ADA training opportunities provided by various interest groups.

- The Office of Digital Resources and Content Accessibility provides a mandatory annual training for all employees on digital accessibility. Human Resources provides basic ADA training at New Employee Orientation.
- The Disability Services Office provides trainings on the student accommodation process to Departments across campus. In addition, Office staff attend webinars and conferences on ADA subject matters when available.

Detailed information on training that has occurred and additional training needs will be identified during the Transition Plan Process upon completing the departmental surveys and interviews. All training needs identified during the Transition Plan will be included in the final Transition Plan document as well as a schedule for training, a list of attendees, their role and how the training will be implemented. The training information will be documented as follows:

[Month] [Day], [Year] - [Class Title] (X hours)

5.0 PROPOSED ACTIONS

5.1 Programs, Services, Activities, Procedures, and Policies

There are a number of recommendations the Consultant Team has for this phase of the evaluation process, and additional recommendations will come with the actual evaluation of each University department. For now, below is a list of items the Consultant Team recommends:

5.1.1 Website

It is recommended that each page of the website and all online learning environments (classes, lectures, testing, etc.) evaluated by an outside consultant to ensure all web content meets the WCAG 2.X requirements. Even if they were developed under the WCAG 2.X requirements, seldom is full compliance maintained if others are allowed to add or change page elements.

Evaluations of online services is a high priority because of the recent increase in website related litigation. In addition to the evaluations, have the web master for University:

- Ensure that words that trigger accessibility be linked to the search engine and lead searchers to the ADA page.
- Make the ADA webpage more prominent on the University's website.
- Have the University's web master ensure that there is a description of the University's ADA/504 Coordinator's roles and responsibilities on the website.

5.1.2 Programs

- Evaluate each University department and their associated programs to determine if they are fully accessible to all students, faculty, staff, and the public regardless of disabilities. In reviewing this process, the location of meetings, the application process, eligibility requirements, physical requirements, and policies and procedures that govern the departments and programs will need to be reviewed.
- Evaluate lease agreements to ensure that the University's non-discrimination statement as well as language that clarifies the ADA obligations of both parties to the lease agreement are incorporated.
- Ensure all University faculty and staff have equal access to all programs offered from the hiring and on-boarding process to benefits, promotions, and terminations.
- Provide emergency plans for each facility with occupation spaces. It will need to be determined if the facility emergency evacuation plans are printed for each building and if they will be reviewed for compliance in-house or if an external review will be completed.

5.1.3 Employment Practices

Since the University is a major employer in the area it is recommended that an evaluation of the hiring practices be evaluated during the first stages of the transition plan process. The evaluation should include:

- Review of all job descriptions.

- Review of the job posting and application process.
- Review of the process used to provide accommodations and assistance to applicants during all aspects of the employment process.

5.2 Buildings/Facilities

The Consultant Team recommends the facilities be fully assessed for three reasons:

- 1) When the data collected is ‘static,’ the DOJ recommends the data be updated every four years.
- 2) The data available for the facilities is old and was not complete when collected.
- 3) It is in the University’s best interest to have the data available electronically so it can be updated as needed and will be compatible with the systems the University already has in place.

The facility assessments should be based on the age of the buildings and the standards that were in place when the building was built. Any building that was built for the first occupancy prior to January 26, 1992, should only be evaluated based on the criteria below:

- 1) Path of travel from the street to the facility entrances
- 2) Path of travel from accessible parking to the facility entrances
- 3) Accessible parking spaces and access aisles
- 4) Access to goods and services inside the facility
- 5) Restrooms
- 6) Ancillary items, such as drinking fountains and public phones

Facilities that were designed and constructed for first occupancy after January 26, 1992, should be fully compliant in all areas, including employee spaces. For that reason, the Consultant Team recommends the assessment of these facilities include the entire building. The same is true for any older building that has been through a major renovation since January 26, 1992.

Buildings and facility evaluations will need to be prioritized for remediation projects. The Consultant Team recommends the prioritization be on a 12-point scale, which is defined in Appendix C.1. This prioritization methodology was developed by the Consultant Team to aid the University in determining how the buildings should be prioritized for improvements based on the severity of non-compliance with ADA and their location.

Prior to completing ADA assessments of University facilities, the Consultant Team recommends the top candidates in the RFP/RFQ process complete a free building evaluation so the University can determine which output will best meet their needs, and standards can be put in place prior to awarding a contract.

Details of facilities to be evaluated are found in Appendix A.1.

5.3 Public Rights-of-Way and Pedestrian Routes

The public rights-of-way data collection could be a costly endeavor, but is a very high priority as it connects all facilities to the sidewalk/pedestrian network. However, once the data is collected, it will become a baseline and will only need to be maintained from that point on. Additionally, the data will be available to use in other applications and projects. The Consultant Team recommends all sidewalks owned or maintained by the University, including the main campus and all branch campuses, be evaluated for compliance with the ADA.

There are many ways to evaluate sidewalk data and each has its own cost. Since the University owns or maintains approximately 50 miles of sidewalk, the Consultant Team recommends a system-mounted with data collection tools and technology as the most cost-effective way to collect data.

This approach will be safer for students and provide precise data for future use.

The University will need to decide how detailed the data should be. Some companies will provide data every ¼”, which is more data than is generally necessary. The Consultant Team recommends data points be collected every two feet unless a section of sidewalk is particularly damaged. A schedule for sidewalk data collection will need to be developed. The sidewalk data collection should take no more than a few weeks, and should be one of the highest priorities for each campus.

Sidewalk corridors can be prioritized on a 3-point scale and given a priority of either “High,” “Medium,” or “Low” based on the severity of non-compliance, which is defined in Appendix C.2. Compliant segments of the sidewalk corridor will be given a priority label of “Compliant.”

5.4 Bus Stops and Shelters

The Consultant Team believes the most cost-effective way to evaluate the bus stops and shelters is to allow the field teams to use the same technology used for the sidewalks to capture as much of the data as possible. The system can be used to capture specific ADA measurements on the boarding/alighting area of a bus stop as well. That leaves only the remaining bus stop amenities for manual evaluation which reduces the cost considerably.

5.5 Design Standards

The Consultant Team recommends adding information regarding accessible design in the public right-of-way and for facilities so it is easily found with a search on the website’s search engine. Additionally, the Consultant Team recommends the University adopt the PROWAG written by the U.S. Access Board so it can be enforced.

5.6 Emergency Management Plan

Since the University is currently developing a comprehensive emergency management plan in addition to emergency planning and management being a high DOJ priority initiative, the Consultant Team recommends the University’s Emergency Management Plan in addition to all building and department level emergency plan be developed and reviewed during the first phase.

5.7 Parking and Transportation Services

The Consultant Team recommends completing a comprehensive parking study that encompasses all the main campus and the programs affiliated with the campus. In addition to a parking study, it is recommended the University undertake a comprehensive review of all policies, procedures, and planning for accessible parking and transportation services for events of all nature on campus.

6.0 TIMELINE AND BUDGET

There are many determining factors that will alter both the timeline and the budget, and generally the budget affects the timeline. For instance, if the budget is available to complete the project in one phase, the entire University could be completed in approximately 24 to 30 months.

If the University is on a tight deadline in order to qualify for funding and a rush is needed to meet that timeline, then the cost can go up impacting the budget.

The level of detail sought will impact both the cost and the timeline along with dozens of other factors. Knowing this, the Consultant Team has made some recommendations in the following sections.

6.1 Estimated Budget

As noted above, there are multiple determining factors that will alter both the timeline and the budget. The Consultant Team estimates $1.75 million to complete the entire plan.

6.2 Proposed Timeline

The Consultant Team recommends this process take no more than one year to initiate with a completion of 24 to 30 months.

7.0 CONCLUSION

This document serves as the ADA Compliance Plan for the University's Campus in Baton Rouge and the LSU A&M locations of Agriculture on campus, the Lab School, CAMD, FETI, Geology Camp-Colorado, Hilltop Arboretum, Innovation Park, Rural Life Museum, Shaw Center, River Model Center, and the Oyster Hatchery. It outlines the various items that will be evaluated in order to develop a comprehensive ADA Transition Plan. Each program, service, and activity will be reviewed for compliance with ADA guidelines, and the Self-Evaluation findings will be documented in the final ADA Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan document.

The University will need to have all PSAs, policies, and leases reviewed, which total about 500 documents, plus the emergency plans. There will be about 511 buildings / facilities, including the main campus and satellite locations listed that will need to be assessed totaling approximately 15.0 million square feet. There is also approximately 50 miles of sidewalk, and about 68 bus stops or shelters that will need to be assessed.

This Compliance Plan can be used to write the scope for an RFQ to get the Transition Plan completed. The final Transition Plan will have prioritized improvements and an implementation plan will be developed to provide guidance for the University's improvement projects in the coming years. Public outreach will also be conducted to aid in the development of the plan.

The University is taking the actions referenced in this document and will continue to look for and remedy barriers to access to ensure that University students, faculty, staff, and the public who are disabled are given full access to all of the University's PSAs.
